For a wired connection to the Internet, connect a LAN cable (sold separately).

Connect the PlayStation®4 system to a TV.

Connect the HDMI cable and the AC power cord in order, from the system to the TV.

Getting started

Turn on the TV, and then set the TV input to HDMI.

Touch the (power) button of the PS4™ system to turn the system on.

The power indicator blinks in blue, and then lights up in white.

Connect the DUALSHOCK®4 wireless controller to the system using the USB cable, and then press the (PS) button.

The controller is registered (paired) when you connect it with the USB cable, and turns on when you press the (PS) button.

Perform initial setup.

Set up an Internet connection, set the date and time, and adjust other settings. Follow the screens to adjust settings, and then select [Start Now] from the setup completion screen. When you set up an Internet connection and there is a later version of the system software, an update file will automatically download.

• Initial registration of the controller is necessary in some situations, such as when using the controller for the first time, or using the controller on another PS4™ system.

• After registration of the controller is complete, you can disconnect the USB cable and use the controller wirelessly.

• Items that you set during the initial setup, as well as items for which you selected [Set Up Later] or [Skip], can be changed and set from (Settings) or [Profile] in the function screen.

• When connecting to a network wirelessly (using Wi-Fi), do not connect an active LAN cable to the PS4™ system. A LAN cable connection is prioritized by the system.

• To fully enjoy PS4™ system features, an Internet connection is recommended.
